Spring Competition: Pareidolia (par-eye-DOH-lee-ah)

“The phenomenon of seeing faces where they're not supposed to be — in clouds, on buildings, in tacos — is so common and widespread that it has a name: pareidolia.” (<https://science.howstuffworks.com/life/inside-the-mind/human-brain/pareidolia.htm>)

Entries will be judged on originality - no photos of Jesus' face on a piece of toast, please. Entrants may be asked to submit raw files to verify that the image is essentially a photograph.
